Sales Agent at Moir Industrial Agencies

September 2011 — Present

I have been working at my current company for 10+ years. I'm mainly dealing with sales and administrative work so I'm speaking to clients and handling the filing. I have not seen growth in my career and I'm dedicated to improving my chances of joining a good team.

I've started to take web design/development more seriously. Taught myself the basics of HTML, CSS and JavaScript and feel confident enough to begin looking at better opportunities.
